

CANADA BEREAVEMENT REGISTRY

Helping the bereaved by stopping direct mail/phone calls to the deceased and performing life insurance and pension checks.

Canada Bereavement Registry is a free aftercare service for the bereaved. We offer two important services:

STOPPING JUNK MAIL AND PHONE CALLS TO THE DECEASED

Registering with us can help to stop unwanted, upsetting direct mail and phone calls to your deceased loved one in as little as 6 weeks. Everyone receives mail from companies and not for profits marketing their services and organizations. Unless they are notified of a person's death, they will continue to call and send mail addressed to the deceased. Canada Bereavement Registry works with these companies and organizations to help keep their databases free of deceased contact data.

LIFE INSURANCE AND PENSION CHECKS

We work with the life insurance and pension industries to find unknown policies and survivor pensions, and payouts may be expedited if a company is first informed of your loved one's death by our registry before you, as it can take some time to settle an estate. The companies will inform the beneficiary directly if they find a match.

No sensitive information regarding your deceased loved one is required to register for our service and the companies we work with can only use the information they receive for the two services we offer. As part of our commitment to you, if you continue to receive unwanted mail and phone calls after 6 weeks, please send us the details and we will contact the organizations on your behalf and free of charge.